

Peter Del Vecchio, 22:33 97/01/14 +09, CSS Interim License

To: pete@compcore.com (Peter Del Vecchio)
From: Susumu Yamaguchi <syamagu@dvd.mei.co.jp>
Subject: CSS Interim License
Cc: 三木F, 渡邊F
Bcc:
X-Attachments:

Dear Mr. Peter Del Vecchio

Thank you for your Email.

We understand your intention. But, to the implementation of software descrambler, you need to satisfy following condition which was already send to Mr.Carol Jacobson from Mr. Watanabe.

The decoding of DVD Movie requires that the security is maintained.

As for the specification of the present situation, it is assumed that it will be processed with the hardware.

In the category of "Descramble Chip Manufacturer", the algorithm of the decryption is disclosed by the covenanted licensee.

But, so as for the 3rd person not be able to easily access the information (the algorithm and so on) and the Master Key to disclose in this category, it is necessary for you to do.

In the software technique of the present situation, this information has the possibility to have leaked out easily to the 3rd person.

For example, if being algorithm and the software as the Master Key can be deciphered with disassemble, the security is not maintained.

If you have countermeasures to resolve the technical solutions, your proposals are very much appreciated based on the evaluation by the fair 3rd organizations.

If you would like to change or add your membership category, please check EXHIBIT A in your original document of Confidential Disclosure Agreement with describing necessary number of copies, and send back us by mail or FAX.

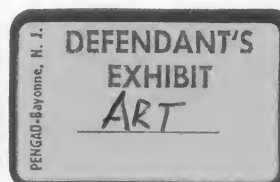

We will make same process for our original document to change the content of contract.

CSS Book for Descrambler needs MITI approval.

After getting MITI approval, we will take necessary measures to provide you CSS Book which you required as soon as possible.

We hope your understanding and cooperation.

Best Regards.

DVD CCA 202761
HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL
ATTORNEY EYES ONLY

CONFIDENTIAL